Saint Lucia Joins Internet Fiesta

ST. LUCIA will be among three other islands of the OECS participating for the first time, in this years' Internet Fiesta, a global activity which started in Europe five years ago and is now included in the events calendar of over 40 countries.

The fiesta which begins May 24 - 29 under the theme "Internet for all" is being held in collaboration with the Association of IT Professionals of Martinique together with a grouping named Open IT. The event is being co-ordinated at the sub-regional level by the OECS Education Reform Unit, with the other participating islands being Antigua/Barbuda, St. Kitts and Nevis, and St. Vincent.

National Coordinator for Internet Fiesta 2004, Dr. Cletus Bertin says the objectives of the Internet Fiesta are to increase awareness of the possibilities, which the Internet offers to the young and old, and private and public sector workers in a fun filled environment, and to initiate an electronic network with people across language and cultural barriers.

Dr. Bertin notes that a number of groups and communities island-wide are expected to be involved in the various activities of the Internet Fiesta. According to Dr. Bertin, they will be receiving free computer orientation and hands on introductory session on the use of the internet, including assistance in setting up e-mail accounts. He added that they have negotiated with Cable and Wireless for free internet access at specific locations where there will be multi media internet displays and special cyber attractions, including on line celebrity chart sessions.

"We are also featuring an open forum, which will focus on of the sub theme of the fiesta, IT and Tourism on Monday, May 24 at 4:30 p.m. at the NIC Conference Centre, where we hope to explore all of the different avenues as it relates to exploiting and using IT and the internet in the tourism sector." Dr. Bertin said.

Other activities include a website challenge competition, a school IT lab competition and a coding after party, which in effect is a programming marathon event between St. Lucia and Martinique. The activities begin at 10 am at the City Hall, and among the officials down to address the opening ceremony is Prime Minister, Honourable Dr. Kenny Anthony, who is Patron of the event.

Huge Crowd follows Jazz on the Square

THOUSANDS of music lovers have so far turned out to revel day and night on Monday and Tuesday this week at Jazz on the Square, filling the Derek Walcott Square to capacity, on each occasion.

The day time performances have seen such greats as Arturo Tappin, Speed, Ronald "Boo" Hinkson, Nachito Herrera, with Barbara Cadet & Friends and Tony De Winton All Stars taking to the stage today.

The night time line-up included Lucian Fusion featuring Ten-90, which is made up of Monty Maxwell and Mervyn Wilkinson. Also on the cards thrilling the large but well controlled crowd was the Royal St. Lucian Police Band along with Patsy Cadet. The second and final evening performance on Tuesday featured the entertaining Jazzcotech, Tommy Joseph and Vincent Small Lewis and Trinidadian great Timothy Watkins - The Baron.

So far all the events have been incident free, with good crowd control.

Since becoming a fringe event six years ago, Jazz on the Square has taken a firm position on the Jazz calendar.

Jazz in the South Records Huge Success

It was a truly relaxing afternoon at Balenbouche (Old Sugar Estate in Choiseul) for the hundreds of locals and visitors, who gathered there last Sunday to savour the musical treat organized by Labowi Promotions. The ambience provided a fusion of Jazz and Cadence with performances by the Sean Thomas Quintet, Intrin-X-ICO and Grammarks New Generation. Balenbouche is one of four venues for Jazz in the South, and Labowi Promotions expressed delight in what they say is becoming an increasingly popular Jazz spot.

Yves Renard of Labowi Promotions attributes this success to intense planning and the dedicated effort of group members, adding that one of the very encouraging factors in the whole planning process was the response from the artistes.

"The public has responded well, I think they know that what they are getting at Balenbouche is good Caribbean Jazz, as well as some sort of a party finale. Caribbean musicians are beginning to understand that there is something in St. Lucia, in terms of a venue for good Caribbean Jazz and world music," he said.

Critical to the hosting of the fringe Jazz shows, according to Renard is the opportunity for artiste/patron interaction. Additionally, he said the fringe events provide the opportunity to extend the line-up to include Afro-Caribbean music from St. Lucian and Caribbean artists.

Director of Tourism, Hilary Modeste says "the events further provide visitors the chance to enjoy the festival in diverse venues, giving a better appreciation of the attractiveness of the island."

With no efforts being spared during this year's regional and extra-regional promotions in Atlanta, Chicago, Toronto and other US markets, Mr. Modeste and his team expect nothing short of a tremendous turnout to what the Board has nicknamed the biggest party in the Caribbean.

"We had major radio promotions in London; as a matter of fact, this year, I expect the numbers out of the UK to increase significantly, based on the increased bookings. Generally, I am looking forward to the event continuing to please both local patrons and visitors, so that they would continue to be the biggest marketeers," Mr. Modeste said.
