Funds are available to support international joint projects, involving British scholars in collaboration with Commonwealth partners. Applications must be for projects involving genuine collaborative work between a defined group of scholars in one, or possibly two, other Commonwealth countries. Priority will be given to applications involving the initiation of a new programme where there is an expectation of continued collaboration, or a defined outcome such as planned joint publications. Preference will be given to projects – from any discipline – which consider the political, economic or cultural relations between countries or regions of the world.

Applications:

Applications should be submitted by the British partner on the enclosed application form. Applications submitted direct by overseas partners will not be considered. Application forms can also be downloaded from the ACU website: www.acu.ac.uk.

Tenure:

Awards are tenable for one year and further funding is not available. Projects may however span up to two years.

Eligibility:

Grants are available for advanced research at postdoctoral or equivalent level or beyond in the fields of the humanities and social sciences.

Awards will not be made retrospectively; applications must be made in time for them to be considered well before the research is due to begin.

Participants must be on the staff of a university in membership of the ACU at the time of application. A full list of ACU members can be obtained from the ACU's website.

All applications should be supported by two references; applications submitted without the required number of referees' reports will not be considered. Referees should be able to give an informed view of the proposed project and those involved, and assess its likely impact on the subject area; they should normally be from outside the applicant's institution.
