UNESCO Announcement Nominations for 2007 Melina Mercouri International Prize for the Safeguarding and Management of Cultural Landscapes (UNESCO-Greece)

UNESCO is pleased to invite Nominations for the 2007 "Melina Mercouri International Prize for the Safeguarding and Management of Cultural Landscapes (UNESCO-Greece)".

The "Melina Mercouri International Prize for the Safeguarding and Management of Cultural Landscapes (UNESCO-Greece)" is a biennial Prize to reward outstanding examples of action to safeguard and enhance the world's major cultural landscapes. The award meets a new need, clearly identified by the World Heritage Committee, which, at its sixteenth session, held in Santa Fe in December 1992, recognised that the protection of cultural landscapes, a richer concept than the conventional one of "monuments" or "sites" is one of the main priorities of the present time.

Eligibility:

The Saint Lucia National Commission for UNESCO must endorse all applicants. Only one candidate may be nominated from each Member State.

The landscape proposed must fit the definition of at least one of the three categories of cultural landscapes listed below (as decided by the World Heritage Committee at its sixteenth session (Santa Fe, 1992):

The most easily identifiable is the clearly defined landscape designed and created intentionally by human beings.

This embraces garden and parkland landscapes constructed for aesthetic reasons, which are often (but not always) associated with religious buildings and ensembles.

The second category is the organically evolved landscape, a landscape that results from an initial social, economic, administrative, and/or religious imperative and has developed its present form by association with and in response to its natural environment. Such landscapes reflect that process of evolution in their form and component features. They fall into two subcategories:

A relic (or fossil) landscape is one in which an evolutionary process came to an end at some time in the past, either abruptly or over a period. Its significant distinguishing features are, however, still visible in material form.

A living landscape is one that retains an active social role in contemporary society closely associated with the traditional way of life and in which the evolutionary process is still in progress. At the same time it exhibits significant material evidence of its evolution over time.

The final category is the associative cultural landscape. The inclusion of such landscapes on the World Heritage List is justifiable by virtue of the powerful religious, artistic or cultural associations of the natural element rather than material cultural evidence, which may be insignificant or even absent.

The Prize may be awarded either to an individual or to a group of persons, working in a personal capacity or as staff member(s) of a private or public institution.

The Award:

The selected candidate will be awarded with the "Melina Mercouri International Prize for the Safeguarding and Management of Cultural Landscapes (UNESCO-Greece)". The award shall consist of a certificate and a sum of money.

Further information on the "Melina Mercouri International Prize for the Safeguarding and Management of Cultural Landscapes (UNESCO-Greece)”, including application forms and procedures are available from the Saint Lucia National Commission for UNESCO, Ministry of Education, Human Resource Development, Youth and Sports, 2nd Floor, Francis Compton Building, The Waterfront, CASTRIES or on the UNESCO website at: <http://whc.unesco.org>.

The closing date for receipt of applications/nominations is Monday 16th October 2006, at the above mentioned address.
